

Cutting the Green Edge

- Renewable Energy
- Waste Management
- Koala Habitat Management
- Water Resources

Join the UDIA's outstanding panel of experts and peer into the future of these evolving issues and their impact on the development sector in Queensland, in the short term and over the next five years. What are the immediate public policy pressures that are developing around renewable energy, waste management, koala habitat management and water resources for masterplanned communities, cities of the future, emerging communities as well as small subdivisions? What are the insights into growing consumer concern about the environmental sensitivity of future developments?

Our panel of experts who represent the key stakeholders will explore the challenges and solutions. This breakfast promises to be fast paced, visionary and entertaining

Seats are limited so be sure to book your place early to avoid disappointment.
